FOOD SAFE

Good kitchen hygiene & good personal hygiene are important to help control the spread of harmful germs.

Always clean kitchen surfaces with products that are approved for use in food areas. Try to 'clean as you go'. Remember that raw meat, poultry, fish & other raw foods can easily cross-contaminate other foods. After handling these foods always wash hands, utensils & surfaces thoroughly & before any contact with other food, especially cooked & ready-to-eat foods.

It is very important to make sure that you protect your hands with food safe gloves when handling food to make sure that you do not cross-contaminate other food with any germs.

Food safe products include powder free latex gloves, powdered vinyl blue gloves, powder free nitrile blue gloves, polythene food bags...
